3. Sentence stress and focus words

In English sentences, some words are pronounced louder than others with a stronger intonation. We call them "focus words". They give rhythm to our sentences and help people understand us better. They are the secret to public speaking!

« Types of focus words »

There are 4 main types of focus words:

Type 1 is used to express emotion.
e.g. This is the BEST pizza ever!

Type 2 is used to highlight new or important information. It makes the message clearer.
e.g. Have you seen my PHONE? I can't find it.

Type 3 is used to correct wrong information from the previous sentence.
e.g. Do you live in Sydney?
No, I live in LONDON.

Type 4 is used to make a contrast between two options or things.
e.g. Is today Monday or Tuesday?

« Content words », you said?

How do we know which words are focus words?

Most of the time, focus words are « content words ».
Content words are words that carry real meaning = the important information that we need to understand each sentence.

As you may have noticed, content words are usually nouns, verbs, adjectives and adverbs.

More examples:

I really enjoyed the show!
Would you like some tea or coffee?
I would love to go to Ireland!

Rachel

What are your plans for the holidays ?

You

I would love to go TO Ireland !

What do you mean ?

You would love to go to Ireland TOO ? Who else is going ?

Example:

Where's the best place to have coffee?

Let's focus ... on the right words

Did you know?

Focus words can change the meaning of a sentence.

If you don't stress the right word, people will not understand what you're saying.

In the example on the left, Tim insisted on the word « to » instead of « love ».

Tim should have said :

I would LOVE to go to Ireland !

When you prepare a presentation, or simply talk to a friend... Remember to focus on the right words.

/!\ Auxiliary verbs /!\

Auxiliary verbs in English (e.g. be, do, have, will, can) are often unstressed in positive sentences (e.g. Can she sing?) but are focus words in negative sentences (e.g. Can't she sing? No, she can't.)

Auxiliaries

to be to do to have will can
...

Positive sentences

e.g.
Can she sing?

Negative sentences

e.g.
Can't she sing?

"Can't" = focus

Can you wait?
She can drive.
Do you know?
Will you come?
Are you coming?

Can't you wait?
Can't she drive?
Don't you know?
Won't you come?
Aren't you coming?
